How does the development process work?

Foundations and content gathering

- On the first consultation we analyze your digital assets and social media accounts to understand what needs to be integrated.
- We collect all your digital assets.
- We get your server and domain information.
- In case you don't have a defined domain or hosting, we help you solve it.
- We offer design options for your website.
- Once the design has been chosen, our team starts the development process on our servers.

E-store implementation

- We establish a basic product structure, sku naming, shipment and payment methods, weights, sizes and all necessary product details.
- Once the product presentation design is defined, we start the product implementation process.
- We set up you invoice e-mail response system.

Design revisions

- A live version of your website is published on our private server.
- We discuss the changes or adjustments required.

Publishing process

- We test and set your server to publish your site.
- DNS re-directions and management.
- Backup installation to verify it's functionality.
- The final version of your website is published on your server.

Finalization

- In case you find any functionality issues with the published site we take care of them.
- We provide a tour of your website's back-end so you can update it.
- Login credentials are provided.
- 2 email accounts get registered and configured (if the server allows it).
- We provide you with a clone copy of your website.
